What is now

Itawamba Community College

opened its doors in September 1948.

There were 114 full-time students and 36 full-time faculty and staff members at IJC compared to approximately 6,800 full-time students and 165 full-time faculty and staff today.

Itawamba Community College

has come a long way from its junior college roots

but even now 60 years later

the tradition of excellence

40s Snazzy

In the 1940s, when Itawamba Community College opened its doors, it was almost named Northeast Mississippi Junior College and its colors were yellow and purple.

However, after an opening delayed until after World War II, Itawamba Junior College began operation under the leadership of Phillip Sheffield.

Tough economic times made for a rough start. Many of the buildings were constructed from lumber from Camp McCain in Grenada. And, the president and dean both taught classes.

Female students who attended IJC were dressed, believe it or not, in similar fashion as those enrolled at ICC today. Some students today wear Converse® tennis shoes as a fashion, however in the 1940s they were worn only by the basketball players. Male students wore plain suits and sometimes a tophat. The women followed a "3P" rule — printed, plaid or plain — top with a skirt and no jeans.

50s

Returning sophomores to Itawamba Junior College in the 1950s had an opportunity for full-time curricula.

And, trends remained the same.

There were color pages in the yearbook instead of black and white.

Buses began to transport students to the Fulton campus. Sound familiar? ICC started shuttle service again this year between the Fulton and Tupelo campuses to ease the pressure of rising gasoline costs and other expenses related to commuting.

Ever since its humble beginning, ICC has always offered sports, dances, clubs and organizations and even in the '50s, a pajama parade.

Pageants were a big deal, then as now. There was the Miss Itawamba County Queen of the Forest, Miss Dixie Representative, Miss ICC and a beauty pageant winner.

Although the physical structure has changed since the 1950s, Itawamba Community College still offers opportunities for student development and a better future.

60s Groov

In 1960, J.S. Crubaugh, the first academic dean, became the second president of IJC.

In 1963, the Tupelo campus was established, and in 1964, the first classes were conducted in the City-County Building. Also in 1964, the first adult basic education classes were offered at the center,

The '60s are often referred to as the decade that broke many fashion traditions and rules, Women's clothing was patterned after that of Jacqueline Kennedy.

Some trends from the '60s are being worn today. The bikini, mini-skirt and stiletto heels were all introduced. Also, skinny jeans were popular.

The 1960s — a time of hippies, bell-bottoms, peace symbols and tye-dyed shirts. Hair styles were very different. Hats went out of style, and men sported afros and moptops.

Many hippie men had long hair and facial hair including sideburns, goatees, mustaches and full-grown beards. Women sported beehive hairdos in the early to mid-'60s and long straight hair in the late '60s.

70s Boogie...Far Out

In the 1970s, fees for in-district non-resident students were $150, and for boarding students, $540 compared with $800 and $1,350 today.

The Special Vocational Education Center was constructed at the Tupelo campus to house vocational training classes for high school age students.

In 1972, the enrollment numbered 2,022 students on both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses.

Many buildings were completed on both campuses during this decade including Lee Hall, Monroe Annex, W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center, the Multi-Purpose Building, Technical Education Building, Administration Building, Library and four classroom buildings.

Dr. W.O. Benjamin became IJC President in 1972.

Fashion trends in the '70s were influenced by glam rock stars such as David Bowie. Some of these trends included hot pants, zippered jumpsuits, spandex trousers and platform shoes. Women commonly wore high waisted flared satin trousers or denims and those who dared, sequined bra tops.

Men wore lame' suits, silver astronaut style outfits and wide-legged denims.

In 1980 Johnnie Kelso of Mantachie became the first student to graduate from IJC and Ole Miss in business at IJC's facilities.

And in 1987, IJC became Itawamba Community College.

New programs included law enforcement, building construction, forestry, carpentry and industrial maintenance. Academic and technical day enrollment reached 1,486.

In 1989, ICC held its first GED graduation.

Several buildings were also completed including tennis courts, modern baseball and football stadiums, Health Science Building and Pontotoc Hall.

Michael Jackson and Madonna were fashion icons for many students at that time. Students wore stirrup pants, RayBans®, tight rolled jeans, polo shirts and shoulder pads. Today, they wear leggings with mini skirts, Converse shoes, severely ripped or bleached jeans and big sunglasses. The decade of the '80s is also credited with tattoos and piercings. Crimped, big hair was also in style.

In 1993, Dr. David C. Cole became president of Itawamba Community College.

And, Itawamba Agricultural High School, which shared the Fulton campus relocated to Highway 25 South. The former high school building was renovated and converted into ICC's Social Science Building.

In 1997, the Crane Pavilion opened. That same year, ICC's Web page went online, and ICC's IDs were barcoded for use in the cafeteria, bookstore and Learning Resource Center.

In 1998, ICC offered the first online class, English Composition.

Also notable in this decade, ICC's football team won the state title.

Styles in the 1990s included tank tops, lycra, high heeled boots, belly button piercings, flared jeans and platform shoes.

Guys wore corduroys, khaki pants and camo pants.

In the 2000s, the 80,000-square-foot Advanced Education Center opened on the Tupelo campus, which is a partnership with the University of Mississippi and Mississippi University for Women.

In the fall of 2000, the Ultrasound Technology program began, and the Occupational Therapy Assistant program also opened during this decade.

Construction included the Boggs Humanities Building, Chickasaw Hall, Davis Event Center and Fitness Center.

Styles during this decade were baseball caps, long and straight bob cuts, beehives, buzz cuts, spiked hair, beards, mustaches and goatees.

Fashions were cowboy boots, baggy jeans, aviator sunglasses, vintage tees, trucker hats, hoodies, sweatpants, sagging pants, bootcut and flare jeans, extremely pointed toe shoes, capri pants, babydoll dresses and flannel shirts.

For 60 years, Itawamba Community College's students have excelled, both while enrolled and after graduation.

This year's Alumnus of the Year, Delbert Turner Jr. was a member of the first graduating class.

Continuing with tradition, honors earned this year included Miss Itawamba Community College, Most Beautiful, Mr. and Miss ICC, Hall of Fame, Who's Who Among American Junior Colleges and Homecoming queen and court.

Mr. and Miss ICC

outstanding

Tyler Smith of Corinth and Andrea Rodgers of Fulton were elected Mr. and Miss Itawamba Community College, February 4, following a week of elections and runoffs.

Both students are majoring in pre-medicine at ICC.

Rodgers is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, Baptist Student Union, Indian Delegation, Student Government Association and the Modern Language Club.

Smith is a member of the soccer team, Phi Theta Kappa and a student worker. He is soccer team captain and NJCAA Distinguished Academic All-American.

Kacy Coleman clinches Miss ICC crown

Amory freshman Kacy Coleman clinched the Miss Itawamba Community College crown after an evening of competion on January 29, 2008. Of the original five contestants, Cheley Adams of Oxford was first alternate, and Misty Hope Roberts of Pontotoc, second.

Other contestants included Renee Hodges of Aberdeen and Keauana King of Grenada.

Will Kollmeyer, voice of the ICC Indians, was pageant emcee. ICC's CenterStage provided the entertainment with its performance of "Fly Me to the Moon" and "Choo Choo Chaboogie."

Hollywood Glamour was the theme for the Miss ICC Scholarship Pageant which featured lifestyle and fitness, talent, evening gown and on-stage questions for the five contestants.

As Miss ICC 2008, Coleman participated in the Miss Mississippi Scholarship Pageant in Vicksburg last summer and returned home with a non-finalist talent award, the Betty "Boop" Mims Scholarship.

Homecoming

Itawamba Community College celebrated Homecoming week October 20-25.

The week's activities at the Fulton campus included a womanless beauty review on Monday night, faculty karaoke contest on Tuesday, Bingo on Wednesday, a hot dog eating contest on Thursday and the pep rally and Homecoming court introduction on Friday at the Crane Pavilion.

The annual pep rally and Homecoming court presentation at the Tupelo campus was at noon on Thursday.

Celebrating 60 years of tradition at Homecoming '08

At Itawamba Community College the 60th anniversary celebration continued during Homecoming 2008 with the theme Tradition through the Decades.

Activities for the day included the recognition of the 2008 Alumnus of the Year Delbert Turner Jr. of Mantachie; and the induction of Dan Bishop of Baldwyn and Jimmy Taylor of Atlanta, GA into the Athletic Hall of Fame.

The Homecoming court included queen Kasey Wilder and maids Emily Flowers, Quamellyia Emenike, Laken Hood, Elizabeth Anderson, Emily McGee, Danielle Stewart, Jaleesa Jackson and Alexandra Poutoa.

The game kicked off at 3 p.m. with the Indians facing Coahoma at Lambert Stadium. During pre-game activities commemorative diplomas were presented to members of the 1949 graduating class, ICC's first.

Amanda Duff named 38th ICC Most Beautiful

Itawamba Community College sophomore Amanda Duff of Pontotoc was crowned Most Beautiful 2009 at the conclusion of the 38th annual pageant, October 23, 2008.

Cy Williams was emcee for the pageant, which was in the W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center auditorium at the Fulton campus. Mary Sue Boggs of the oral communications department was director.

Alternates included freshman Elizabeth Anderson of Tupelo, first; sophomore Grecia Estrada-Goin of Tupelo, second; sophomore Laken Hood of Blue Springs, third; and freshman Courtney McMinn of Tupelo, fourth.

Cheley Adams of Oxford, Most Beautiful 2008, presented Duff's crown.

Duff is a graduate of Pontotoc High School. She is the daughter of George Duff and Gayla Duff of Pontotoc.

Contestants were sponsored by Fulton and Tupelo campus clubs and organizations, area businesses and industries, as well as family members and friends.

To pick the winner, the judges narrowed the more than 60 contestants to 21 finalists from which they selected the five winners.

The judges were Laura Franklin of Pontotoc, Austin Haley of Tupelo and Emily Senter of Fulton.

More than 60 Itawamba Community College sophomores were named to Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges for 2008-09.

ICC's nominees were selected by faculty and staff on both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

ICC's nominees joined an elite group of students from more than 1,400 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been recognized in the annual directory since it was first published in 1966.

Indian Week

The 2008 Indian Week was filled with food, fun and fellowship.

Fulton campus activities included cartoonist Steve Gipson, inflatable games, hamburger luncheons, Thinkfast game show, choir concert, lazer tag, hot dog luncheon, fashion show, Texas Hold 'Em Poker tournament, Fear Factor, "The Real Deal" game show, Bingo, hot dog eating contest and Indian Idol finals, which was won by Amanda Duff.

Students at the Tupelo campus participated in Make It, Take It: snow cones and ice cream; rock climbing wall, laser sure shot and a hot dog lunch.

Both campuses had Find the Lost Indian contests.

400+ graduates earn associate's degrees

The 58th annual commencement ceremony was held for the first time in Itawamba Community College's Davis Event Center on the Fulton campus, May 9, 2008, at 7 p.m.

Dr. David L. Beckley, President of Rust College, delivered the commencement address. Approximately 450 students were awarded either an associate's degree or a certificate.

Dr. David Cole, ICC President, presented diplomas to graduates as their names were called by Deans Dr. Jan Reid-Bunch and Dr. Ron Phillips.

Additional program participants were Megan Whitehead, 2008 Miss Itawamba Community College who gave the welcome and invocation, and Justin Wooten, a member of the Hall of Fame, who presented the benediction. Music was presented by Reid-Bunch, Dr. Cass Patrick and Jeff Myers.

Additional commencement day activities included the annual breakfast, rehearsal and an opportunity for photos. Associate degree nursing graduates received their pins during a ceremony the night before.

Itawamba Community College recognized its top students, April 15, at 6:30 p.m., during a ceremony at the W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center auditorium at the Fulton campus.

During "An Evening of Celebration: Honoring Academic Excellence Across the Curriculum," awards were presented to 68 students who had excelled academically at both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses.

Mississippi's first woman U.S. District Court Judge Sharion Aycock of Fulton delivered the address.

Certificates and plaques were presented for technologies, health sciences and academics.

For 60 years, Itawamba Community College has striven for excellence in its athletic department.

Each team's success, such as baseball's number five rank in the NJCAA poll and the women's tennis team placing third at the MACJC tournament proved ICC's dominance of athletics in the state and region.

ICC athletics has evolved from 10-member squads in the 1950s to full rosters in all 10 sports today and continuation of a tradition of excellence.

ICC's Bernard Brinson tackles low while teammate Marlon Wilks hits high against the Jones Bobcats. Marti Shelby goes high to bring in a 50-yard pass. Ty Hardin leads the Indians onto the field. Pierre Hadley prepares to make a play.

Indians finish with PRIDE

Itawamba Community College's 2008 Indians finished the season with a 3-6 record with wins against Holmes, Coahoma and rival Northeast.

Indian coaches included Jeff Terrill and his assistants Jeff Carter, Jon Williams, Kenny Jackson and Tyrone Fox.

Until this season, ICC's football program had been the only one in the MACJC to have qualified for the state playoffs in each of the last four years.

That streak was broken this year, but the Indians ended the season on a high note with a clobbering of the Coahoma Tigers, 31-10, to conclude a day of Homecoming activities at Lambert Stadium on October 25.

"We finally did it," Terrill said after the regular season finale, which gave his team a third place finish in the north with a 3-3 mark. "We finally played the kind of game that we had been hoping for all season long."

The story in the final game was the sophomores, said offensive coordinator Jeff Carter. "They wanted to finish strong and make this a memorable last game in that red and blue uniform."

"That's the way we wanted to go out as sophomores," Ty Hardin, who scored a touchdown in his final game for ICC, said.

The 2008 season proved to be a rebuilding year for the Indians.

TOPS

Many ICC Indians received special honors for the 2008 season.

John Weber was named MACJC Defensive Player of the Week, September 19, and Willie Grady was honored as special teams player of the week, October 6.

Heath Hutchins and Pernell McPhee were selected first team all-Region 23. Hutchins, McPhee, Lamar Holmes and Bernard Brinson were named to the MACJC North All-State first team. In addition, Jeff Howie made the second team on offense while sophomore defensive lineman made the same list on defense.

Indians Kenard Springer, Travis Walker and Kelvin Jackson participated in the North-South All-Star Football Classic, December 6.

Travis Walker carries the ball in the Indians' win against the Northeast Tigers at Lambert Stadium.

Clockwise from top center, Jeremy Word returns the kickoff while Ty Hardin helps with a block. ICC head coach Jeff Terrill gives instructions to Willie Grady before he takes the field. Austin Thomas tackles a Jones Bobcat to prevent a first down.

Itawamba Community College's cheerleaders began the year July 25-27 at UCA cheerleader camp in Tuscaloosa, Ala. where they placed fourth in sideline competition against 11 community colleges.

The group also volunteered at the North Mississippi Down Syndrome Society walk by assisting with the inflatables and kicked off Pierce Street School's Reading Week with a pep rally.

"This is an awesome squad," said cheer coach Mande Miller. "They are very enthusiastic and great at leading the crowd and getting the fans involved. These cheerleaders are a very talented squad, whom I have thoroughly enjoyed. We are a family."

2008-09 cheerleaders included Jordan Metcalfe, Chris Barnett, Blake Berryman, Mackenzie Copeland, Zack Witcher, all of Tupelo; JaLyn Stillman, Brad Barksdale, both of New Hope; Jodi Comer of Fulton; Caleb East of Oxford; Jade Palmer of Corinth; Kelsey Byrd of Mooreville; Chelsea Sanderson of Amory; Emily Flowers of Pontotoc; Kiersten Seward of Blue Springs; Trey Davis of Van Vleet; and Lauren Hardin of Mooreville. GOAL

ITCC's women's basketball team kicked off the 2008 season, October 31, in the PSP Tip-Off Classic where they defeated Motlow State.

The 15-member team, which was under the direction of head coach Nanci Gray and assistant Brian Alexander for the third consecutive year, consisted of six returning sophomores and nine freshmen.

"My expectations are high," Gray said about her goals for the season. "We have a well-balanced team this season so our ultimate goal is to see a repeat for the state championship."

At press time, the Lady Indians were leading the North Division. One of the highlights was an 84-67 win over rival Northeast. Sanqueeta Meardith had 35 points and eight assists in the win.

Indians drive to SUCCESS

The 2008-09 men's basketball team, under the direction of head coach Marty Cooper and assistant coach Brian Alexander, started the season with a 74-66 win over Motlow State.

Next up for the Indians were wins over Shelton State and Northwest Shoals and losses to Shelton State and Jones.

The Indians stepped up their game, November 24, with a 75-68 defeat of East Central, and followed that victory with eight straight wins.

With the start of the spring semester, the Indians were derailed in losses against East Mississippi and Northeast.

"Obviously it (the wins over Holmes and Mississippi Delta) will help," Cooper said, "but we have dug ourselves a hole after losing to East Mississippi and Northeast. We can't lose any more."

At press time (early February), the Indians were 16-7 and closing in on first place in the north division with playoffs looming.

Cooper's roster included eight returning sophomores and seven freshmen.

Several Indians will take their game to the next level during the 2009 fall season. They include Jason Marks, who signed with Southeastern Louisiana, and Theron Jenkins, who will play at Texas Tech in the Big 12 Conference next year.

Practice makes PERFECT

The ICC fall baseball roster consisted of 18 freshmen and 11 returning sophomores.

Head coach Rick Collier and assistant coach Alex Williamson used the fall season for practice and evaluation of the spring '09 season.

Assessing players for the spring season, the coaches utilized the intrasquad format.

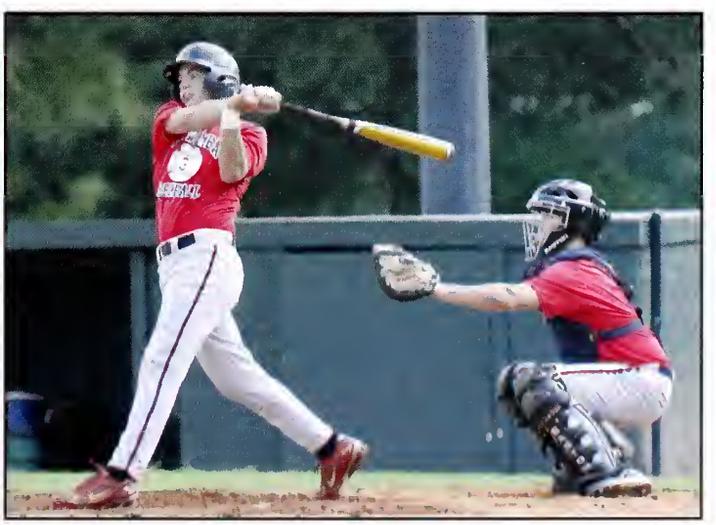
ICC wrapped up its six weeks of workouts at the end of October, in which they did not lose a game in their eight-game fall slate.

Collier said, "We all know the records and stats don't officially count in the fall," said Collier whose 2008 squad finished 37-15 and fifth in the nation in the final NJCAA poll.

"But we place a lot of emphasis on playing time in the fall, and we tell our players if you can't get it done in the fall, then it's going to be tough on you in the spring."

Among those who played well this fall, Collier said, was sophomore Dustin Lunn, who hit .390 with eight home runs. "Dustin killed the baseball this fall," Collier said. "I thought Clint Alford (Tupelo) and Justin Bryant (Remlap, Ala.) also had great falls for us."

Both Alford and Bryant finished with identical .380 marks at the plate. On the hill, sophomore Josh Chism of Mooreville picked up where he left off last spring for the Indians when he led the team with a 2.13 ERA to go along with his 4-1 record. Collier also said that newcomers Joseph Koon, Will Irvin and Dustin Hudson looked good on the mound.



Awards

The 2008 edition of ICC's men's soccer team resulted in records being broken and awards.

Clay Carson finished 27th in the nation in scoring with 13 goals and 13 assists. He also won the north division scoring title as well as finishing one point out of state scoring race. He was the only Indian to make the All-Region 23 squad and joined teammates Chase Elliott and Colt Snell on the all-north division team. Overall, the team finished with the second most goals in a season with 45, second most assists with 39 and the second highest scoring average at 2.7 goals per game.

This year's sophomore class also won the most games ever with 22 over its two-year career.

Keep the goal in MIND

ICC's Lady Indians rewrote the soccer record book this season.

Wathen was the first Lady Indian to make the All-Region 23 squad two years in a row. She won the north division scoring title and finished third in the MACJC race while leaving ICC as all-time leading scorer. Sullivan leaves the program first in career assists with 20. Nichols was first in career and season shutouts with four. She was also first in goals against average for a season and career first in wins in a career and season with nine.

The team overall set a few records including the most goals in a season with 58, most assists in a season with 49 and the second highest scoring average at 3.4 goals per game.

In addition, the Lady Indians tied the school record for most wins in a season with nine.

The team finished with a 10-5-4 record and advanced to the state tournament where it eventually lost to the Mississippi Gulf Coast Lady Bulldogs.

Mike Sullivan was in his second season as head coach of the Lady Indians.

The Indians captured the north division crown for the fifth time in Rick Collier's six-year tenure at the helm of ICC's baseball program with an 11-1 mark.

ICC also finished third at the MACJC State Tournament at Crubaugh Field and fourth at the Region 23 Tournament in Poplarville.

The 37-15 overall record was also good enough for the Indians to be listed fifth in the nation in the final poll of the year conducted by the NJCAA.

Chris Hilliard was the only Indian named first-team All-Region 23 after compiling an 11-2 mark. He also became the 21st ICC baseball player since 1983 selected in the Major League Baseball Draft after being picked by the New York Mets.

Itawamba Community College had a "breakout" season under head coach Chad Case.

In his first year at the helm of the women's softball program led the Lady Indians to a 13-3 division finish and a 22-16 overall record in the regular season.

The record was good enough to qualify the team for the MACJC state tournament by coming in first place with a tie with Northeast.

However, the Lady Indians lost both games in the tournament, which was April 24 and 25 in Clinton. ICC's opponents were the Northeast Lady Tigers and the East Central Lady Warriors.

Indians serve up SUCCESS

Itawamba Community College's men's tennis team had a successful season, finishing with an 8-5-0 record.

Coach Paul Johnson led the Indians to the state tournament as well as to the NJCAA National Tournament in Dallas, Texas.

The men's team finished second in the state tournament in Hattiesburg.

Mark Taylor won the #6 singles title, while Jason Vinson and Delbert Landicho won the #2 doubles state crown.

Jody Vinson and Taylor captured the #3 doubles state title as well.

The team qualified for the national tournament for the eighth straight year.

For the first time ever, Coach Johnson was recognized nationally for his accomplishments. He received the Hershel Stephens award, which is voted on by the NJCAA Tennis Coaches Association, for "outstanding service and dedication to NJCAA tennis." He has coached at ICC for 33 years.

Fourth

The 2008 Itawamba Community College golf team, under the direction of coach David Rather, finished fourth in the state.

ICC's Justin Spratlin finished second at the NJCAA national tournament in Phoenix, Arizona.

The team participated in tournaments at Raymond (Hinds Community College), Forrest (East Central), Northwest Community College, Wesson (Copiah-Lincoln), the state and Region 23 Invitational in Forrest and the Division II national tournament in Scottsboro, Alabama.

Rather said that he was proud of his team and satisfied with ICC's golf season.

He plans to sign key recruits this summer.

McCAIN

For 60 years, Itawamba Junior College and Itawamba Community College have offered students an opportunity for involvement in numerous clubs and organizations.

In the late 1940s, organizations included Les Amis, Carpentry Club and The Pioneers. Through ICC's 60 years, many clubs have evolved to make significant impacts on the lives of their members.

With ICC's emphasis on a "family atmosphere," this trend will likely continue.

Programs focus on

ICC's CPNA members were involved in several activities and fundraisers this year. Programs included a presentation by Circadence and participation in the Magnolia State Expo at the Summit. Fundraisers included a chili supper for ICC evening students and a t-shirt sale.

The 40 Science Club members met monthly. Several speakers addressed the field of biology, and additional programs focused on health and fitness, nursing, radiation therapy and dentistry.

The Computer Science Club members were involved in Homecoming activities, a Christmas project, sending Valentine cards to nursing home residents and fundraisers. Trips included CSA, the Space Center and to the University of Mississippi and Mississippi State University for recruiting.

The Forestry Club met at least once each semester at the Whitten Center for a cookout and participated in many community projects. The club, which has 42 members, was one of the sponsors of the annual Itawamba County Wildlife Seminar in October. Other activities included planting longleaf pines in Demopolis, Ala. The freshmen received certification with the Mississippi Forestry Commission's Project Learning Tree.

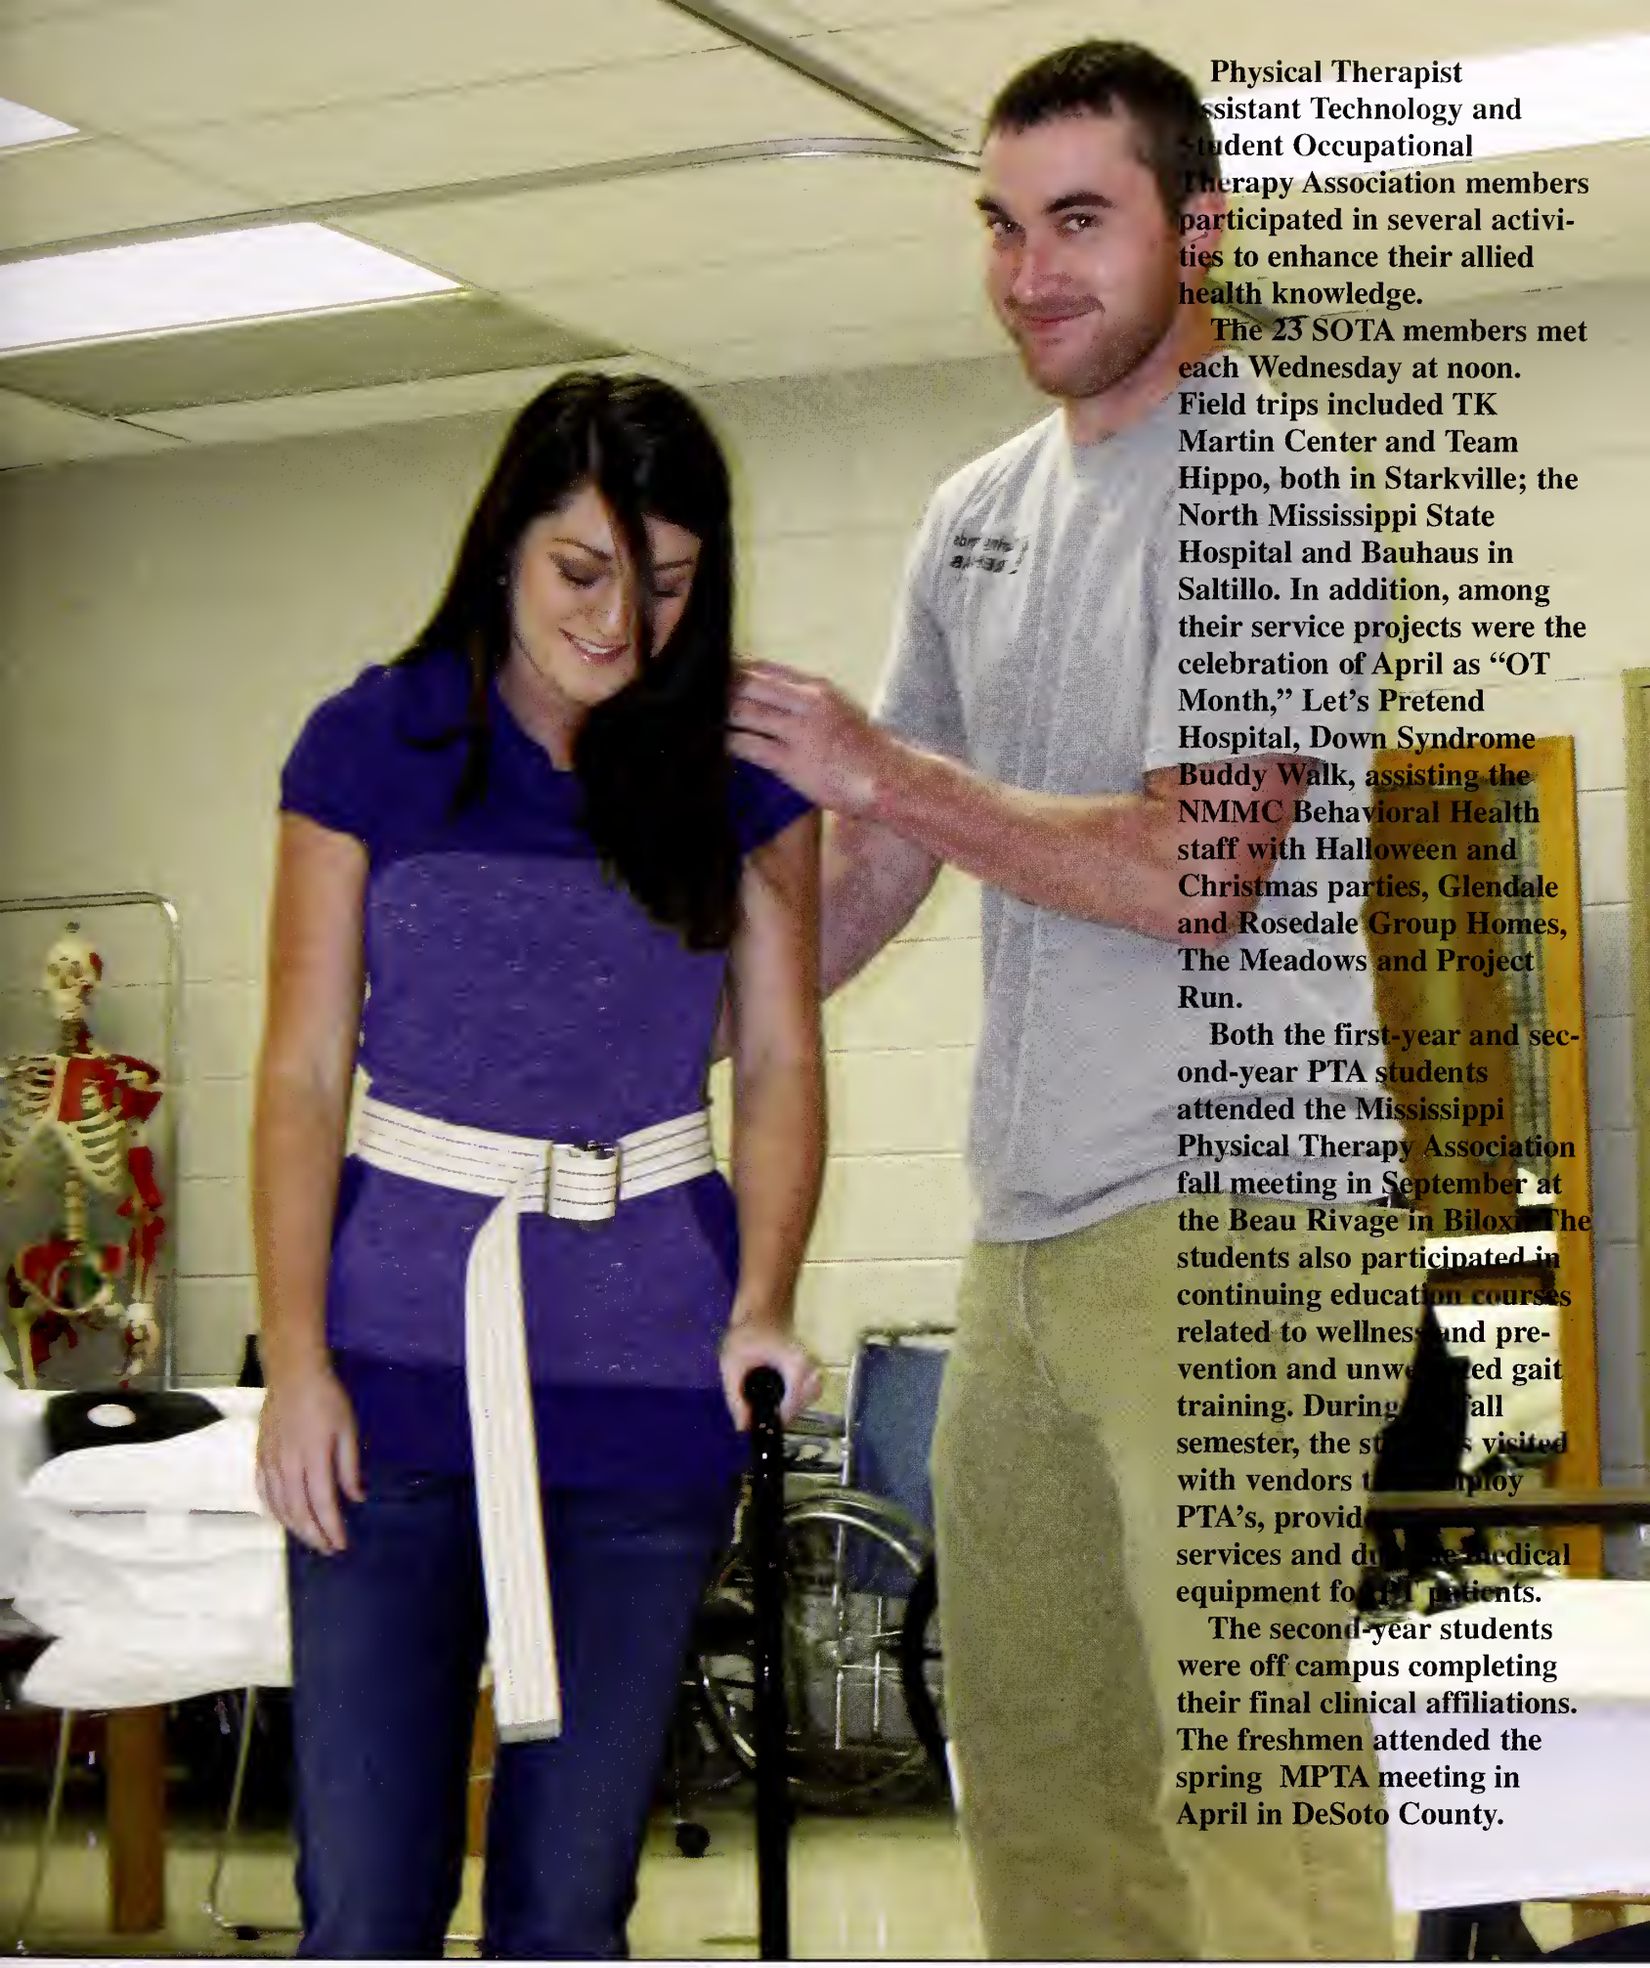
Health students



Physical Therapist ssistant Technology and tudent Occupational herapy Association members participated in several activities to enhance their allied health knowledge.

The 23 SOTA members met each Wednesday at noon. Field trips included TK Martin Center and Team Hippo, both in Starkville; the North Mississippi State Hospital and Bauhaus in Saltillo. In addition, among their service projects were the celebration of April as "OT Month," Let's Pretend Hospital, Down Syndrome Buddy Walk, assisting the NMMC Behavioral Health staff with Halloween and Christmas parties, Glendale and Rosedale Group Homes, The Meadows and Project Run.

Both the first-year and second-year PTA students attended the Mississippi Physical Therapy Association fall meeting in September at the Beau Rivage in Biloxi. The students also participated in continuing education courses related to wellness and prevention and unweighted gait training. During the fall semester, the students visited with vendors that employ PTA's, provide rehab services and durable medical equipment for PT patients.

The second-year students were off campus completing their final clinical affiliations. The freshmen attended the spring MPTA meeting in April in DeSoto County.

Groups learn way

Members of Itawamba Community College's Sign Language Club and Foreign Language Club explored methods of communication during the year.

The Sign Language Club attended workshops around the state this year to enhance understanding of the field and the requirements for the job of interpreting. In addition, the group held monthly meetings and are in the process of winding up the year.

The Modern Language Club promotes the study of cultures and languages of all countries, and members seek to learn more about the global community while becoming an integral part of ICC and its five-county district.

This year, the group filled 14 Operation Christmas Child shoe boxes with school supplies, toys and necessities for children who have endured poverty, disease and disaster. The group also visited with children at "A Way Out," the after-school program in Fulton, December 2. Members entertained the children by singing Christmas carols in Spanish and French and sharing stories about Christmas customs around the world.

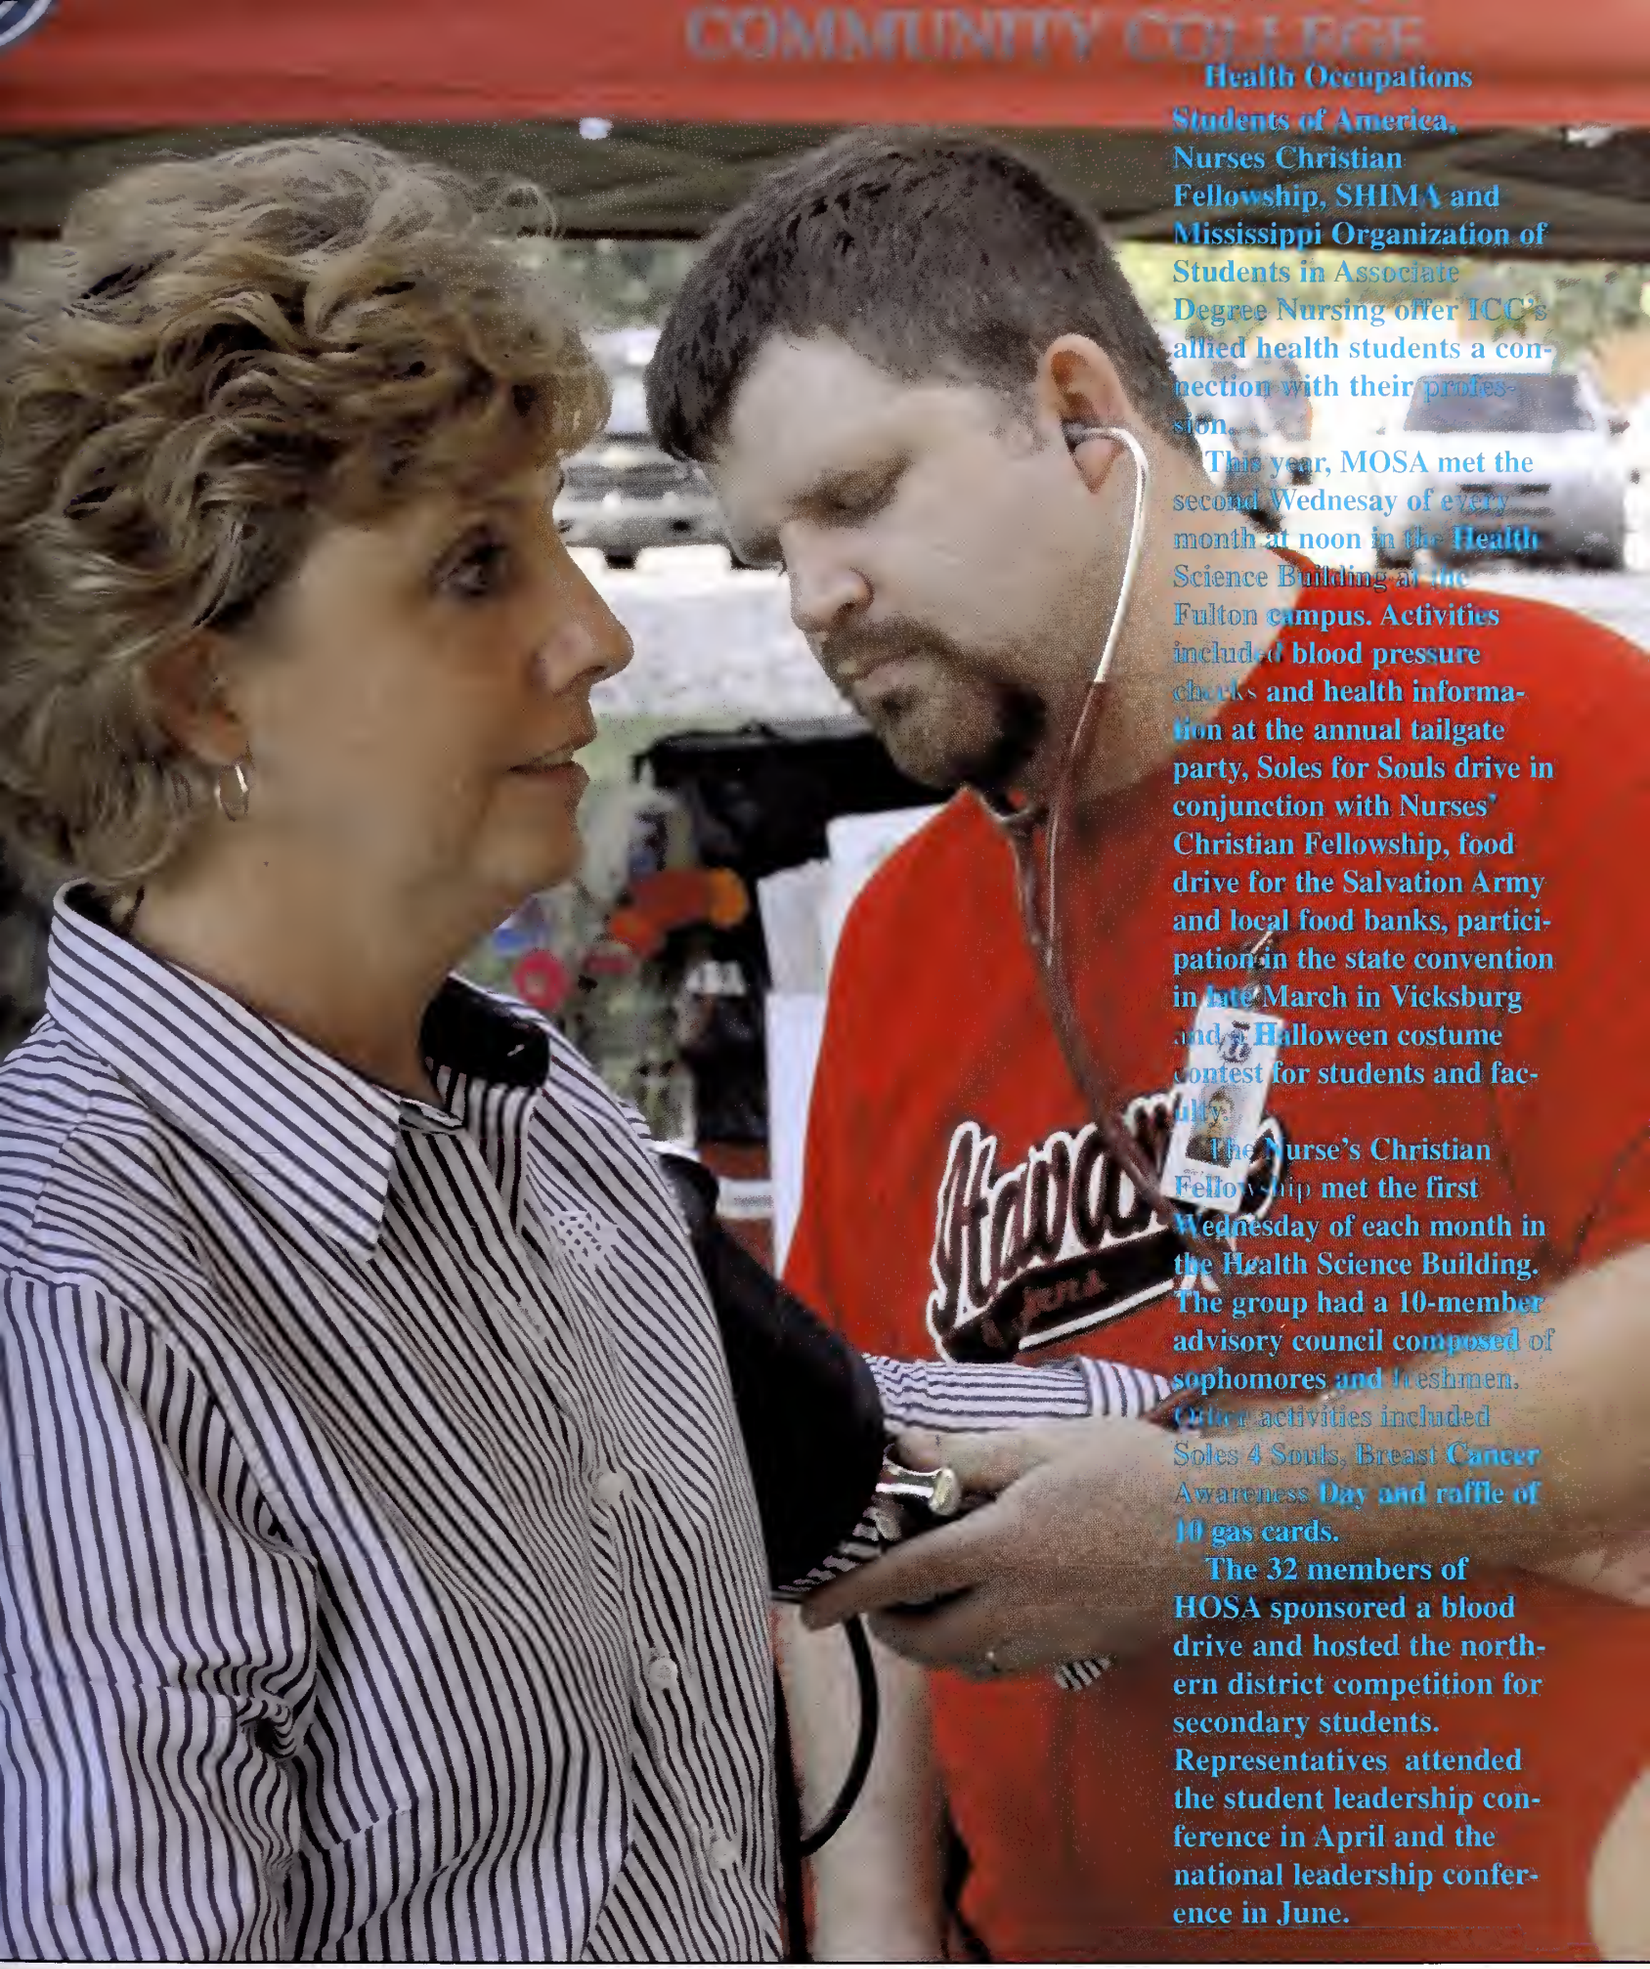
ICC's allied health grou



Health Occupations Students of America, Nurses Christian Fellowship, SHIMA and Mississippi Organization of Students in Associate Degree Nursing offer ICC's allied health students a connection with their profession.

This year, MOSA met the second Wednesay of every month at noon in the Health Science Building at the Fulton campus. Activities included blood pressure checks and health information at the annual tailgate party, Soles for Souls drive in conjunction with Nurses' Christian Fellowship, food drive for the Salvation Army and local food banks, participation in the state convention in late March in Vicksburg and a Halloween costume contest for students and faculty.

The Nurse's Christian Fellowship met the first Wednesday of each month in the Health Science Building. The group had a 10-member advisory council composed of sophomores and freshmen. Other activities included Soles 4 Souls, Breast Cancer Awareness Day and raffle of 10 gas cards.

The 32 members of HOSA sponsored a blood drive and hosted the northern district competition for secondary students. Representatives attended the student leadership conference in April and the national leadership conference in June.

Phi Beta Lambda met at the Tupelo campus the third Tuesday of each month in Administration 106. Activities for the club included March of Dimes Celebrity Chefs' Auction and the State Fall Leadership Conference at Meridian Community College, both in October; the National Fall Leadership Conference in New Orleans, La. in November; the Northern District Future Business Leaders of America conference in January; and the State Leadership Conference, February 26-28, at the Tupelo campus.

Students in Free Enterprise was involved in outreach projects designed to promote a better understanding of the free enterprise system including lessons on proper use of credit, career preparation, starting a business, marketing and ethics. The SIFE team, which consisted of approximately 15 members, continued its activities into the spring semester with efforts to reach juniors at Shannon High School. They attended regional competition in Atlanta, March 30. Advisers were Sam Walton Fellows Edana Nail and Joe Williams.

SGA assists

The Student Government Associations on both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses serve as a student voice. SGA representatives are elected for each county by ICC students.

The Fulton campus group coordinated many events this year including student elections, Womanless Beauty Review, Homecoming week, movie nights, Indian Week, Indian Idol, Black History program, Angel Tree, Easter Egg hunt and the Christmas celebration at the Crane Pavilion following the Fulton Christmas parade. Members also assisted in program sales and the organization of student sections at athletic events. President Chad McCoy and vice president Andrea Rodgers worked on ICC's presence on Facebook to enable students to be more connected.

The Tupelo campus SGA met every Thursday at noon in the Student Services conference room. They participated in the decoration of bulletin boards on campus and storytelling time at the Early Learning Center there. Members also sponsored an Angel Tree in December and a Black History program in February. The annual Halloween contest was a highlight of the year.

Sponsors were Buddy Collins, Fulton campus, and Cynthia Adams, Tupelo campus.

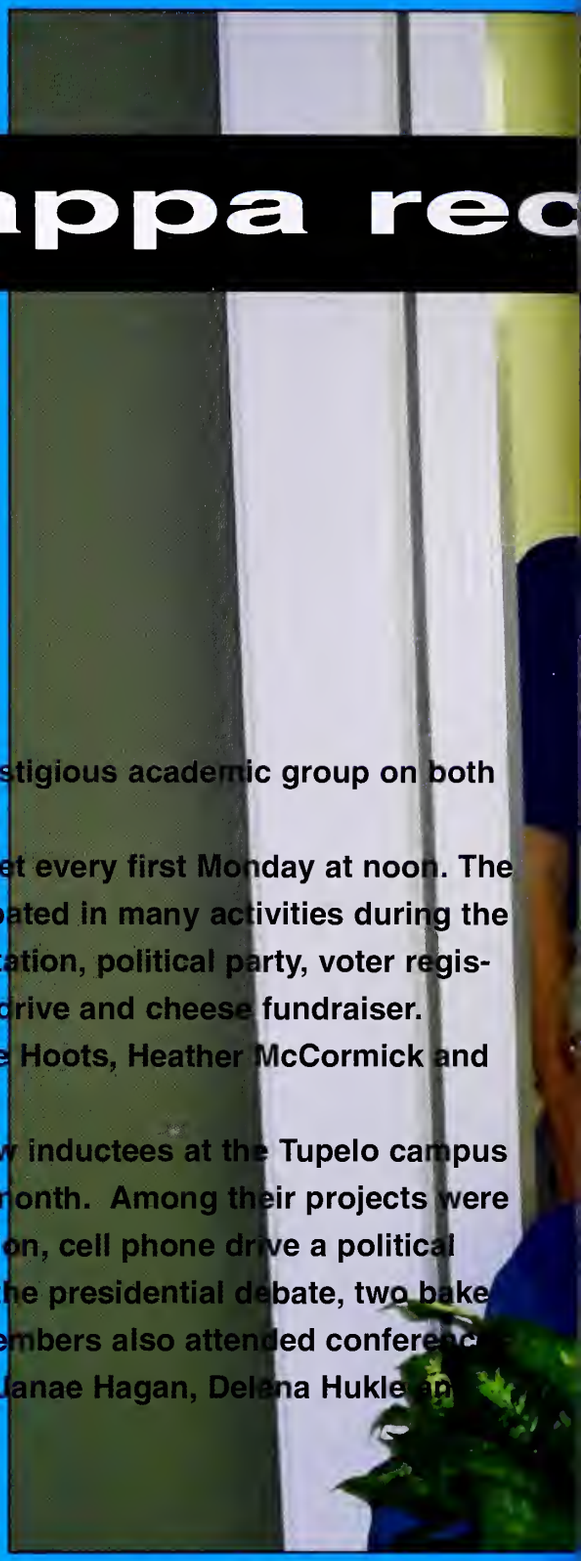
Phi Theta Kappa rec



Phi Theta Kappa is a prestigious academic group on both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses.

The Fulton campus members met every first Monday at noon. The several hundred members participated in many activities during the year including new member orientation, political party, voter registration, diabetes walk, cell phone drive and cheese fundraiser. Advisers were Robin Lowe, Jolene Hoots, Heather McCormick and Dr. Ashley Lancaster.

The ten active members and new inductees at the Tupelo campus met the second Tuesday of each month. Among their projects were Operation Green, Project Graduation, cell phone drive a political party during which they watched the presidential debate, two bake sales and Good As Gold Week. Members also attended confere and conventions. Sponsors were Janae Hagan, Delena Hukle an Betsy White.

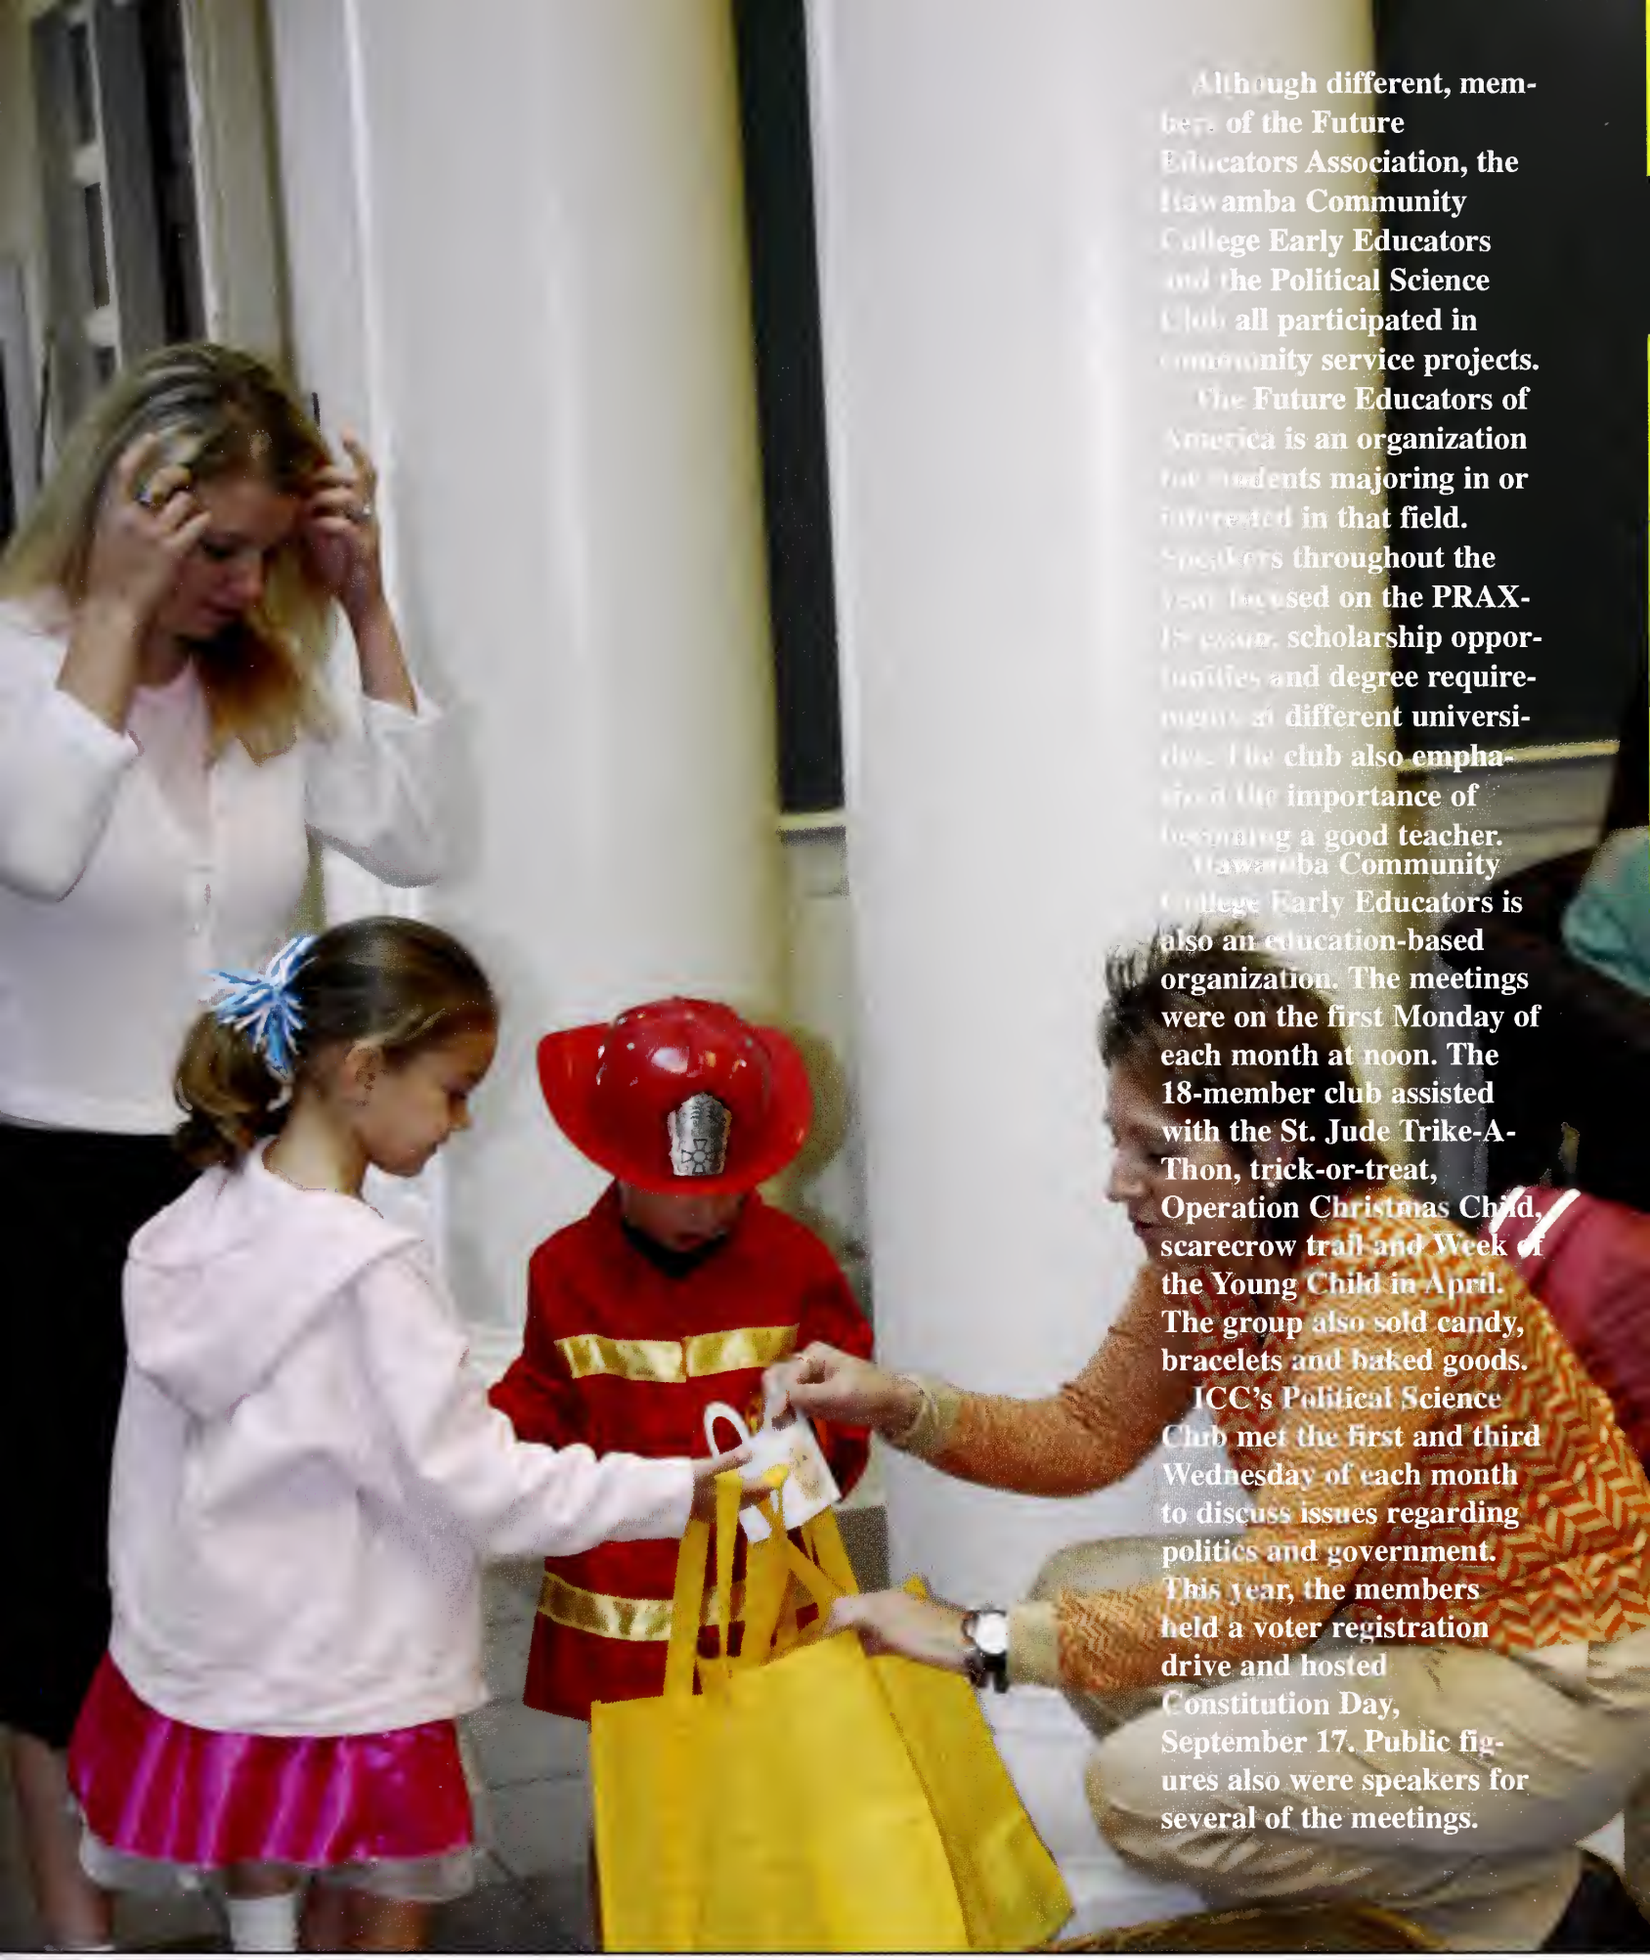
Clubs prov



Although different, members of the Future Educators Association, the Itawamba Community College Early Educators and the Political Science Club all participated in community service projects.

The Future Educators of America is an organization for students majoring in or interested in that field. Speakers throughout the year focused on the PRAXIS exam, scholarship opportunities and degree requirements at different universities. The club also emphasized the importance of becoming a good teacher.

Itawamba Community College Early Educators is also an education-based organization. The meetings were on the first Monday of each month at noon. The 18-member club assisted with the St. Jude Trike-A-Thon, trick-or-treat, Operation Christmas Child, scarecrow trail and Week of the Young Child in April. The group also sold candy, bracelets and baked goods.

ICC's Political Science Club met the first and third Wednesday of each month to discuss issues regarding politics and government. This year, the members held a voter registration drive and hosted Constitution Day, September 17. Public figures also were speakers for several of the meetings.

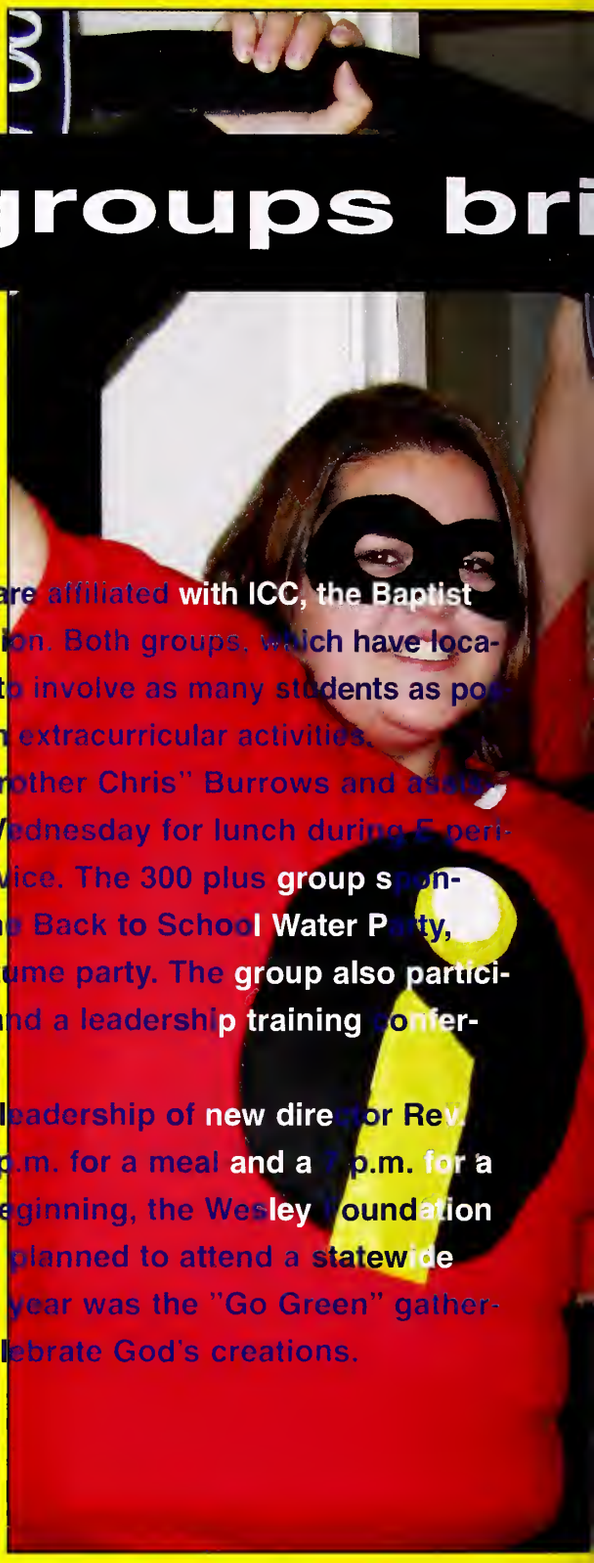
Religious groups bri



Two religious organizations are affiliated with ICC, the Baptist Student Union and the Wesley Foundation. Both groups, which have locations near the Fulton campus, attempt to involve as many students as possible, both residents and commuters, in extracurricular activities.

The BSU, under the direction of "Brother Chris" Burrows and assistant director Troy Comer met every Wednesday for lunch during E period and at 7:07 p.m. for a worship service. The 300 plus group sponsored many annual events such as the Back to School Water Party, freshman night and a Halloween costume party. The group also participated in a spring break mission trip and a leadership training conference.

The Wesley Foundation, under the leadership of new director Rev. John Foster, met every Tuesday at 6 p.m. for a meal and at 7 p.m. for a worship service. Working on a new beginning, the Wesley Foundation participated in monthly missions and planned to attend a statewide retreat. A big event for the group this year was the "Go Green" gathering where members dressed up to celebrate God's creations.

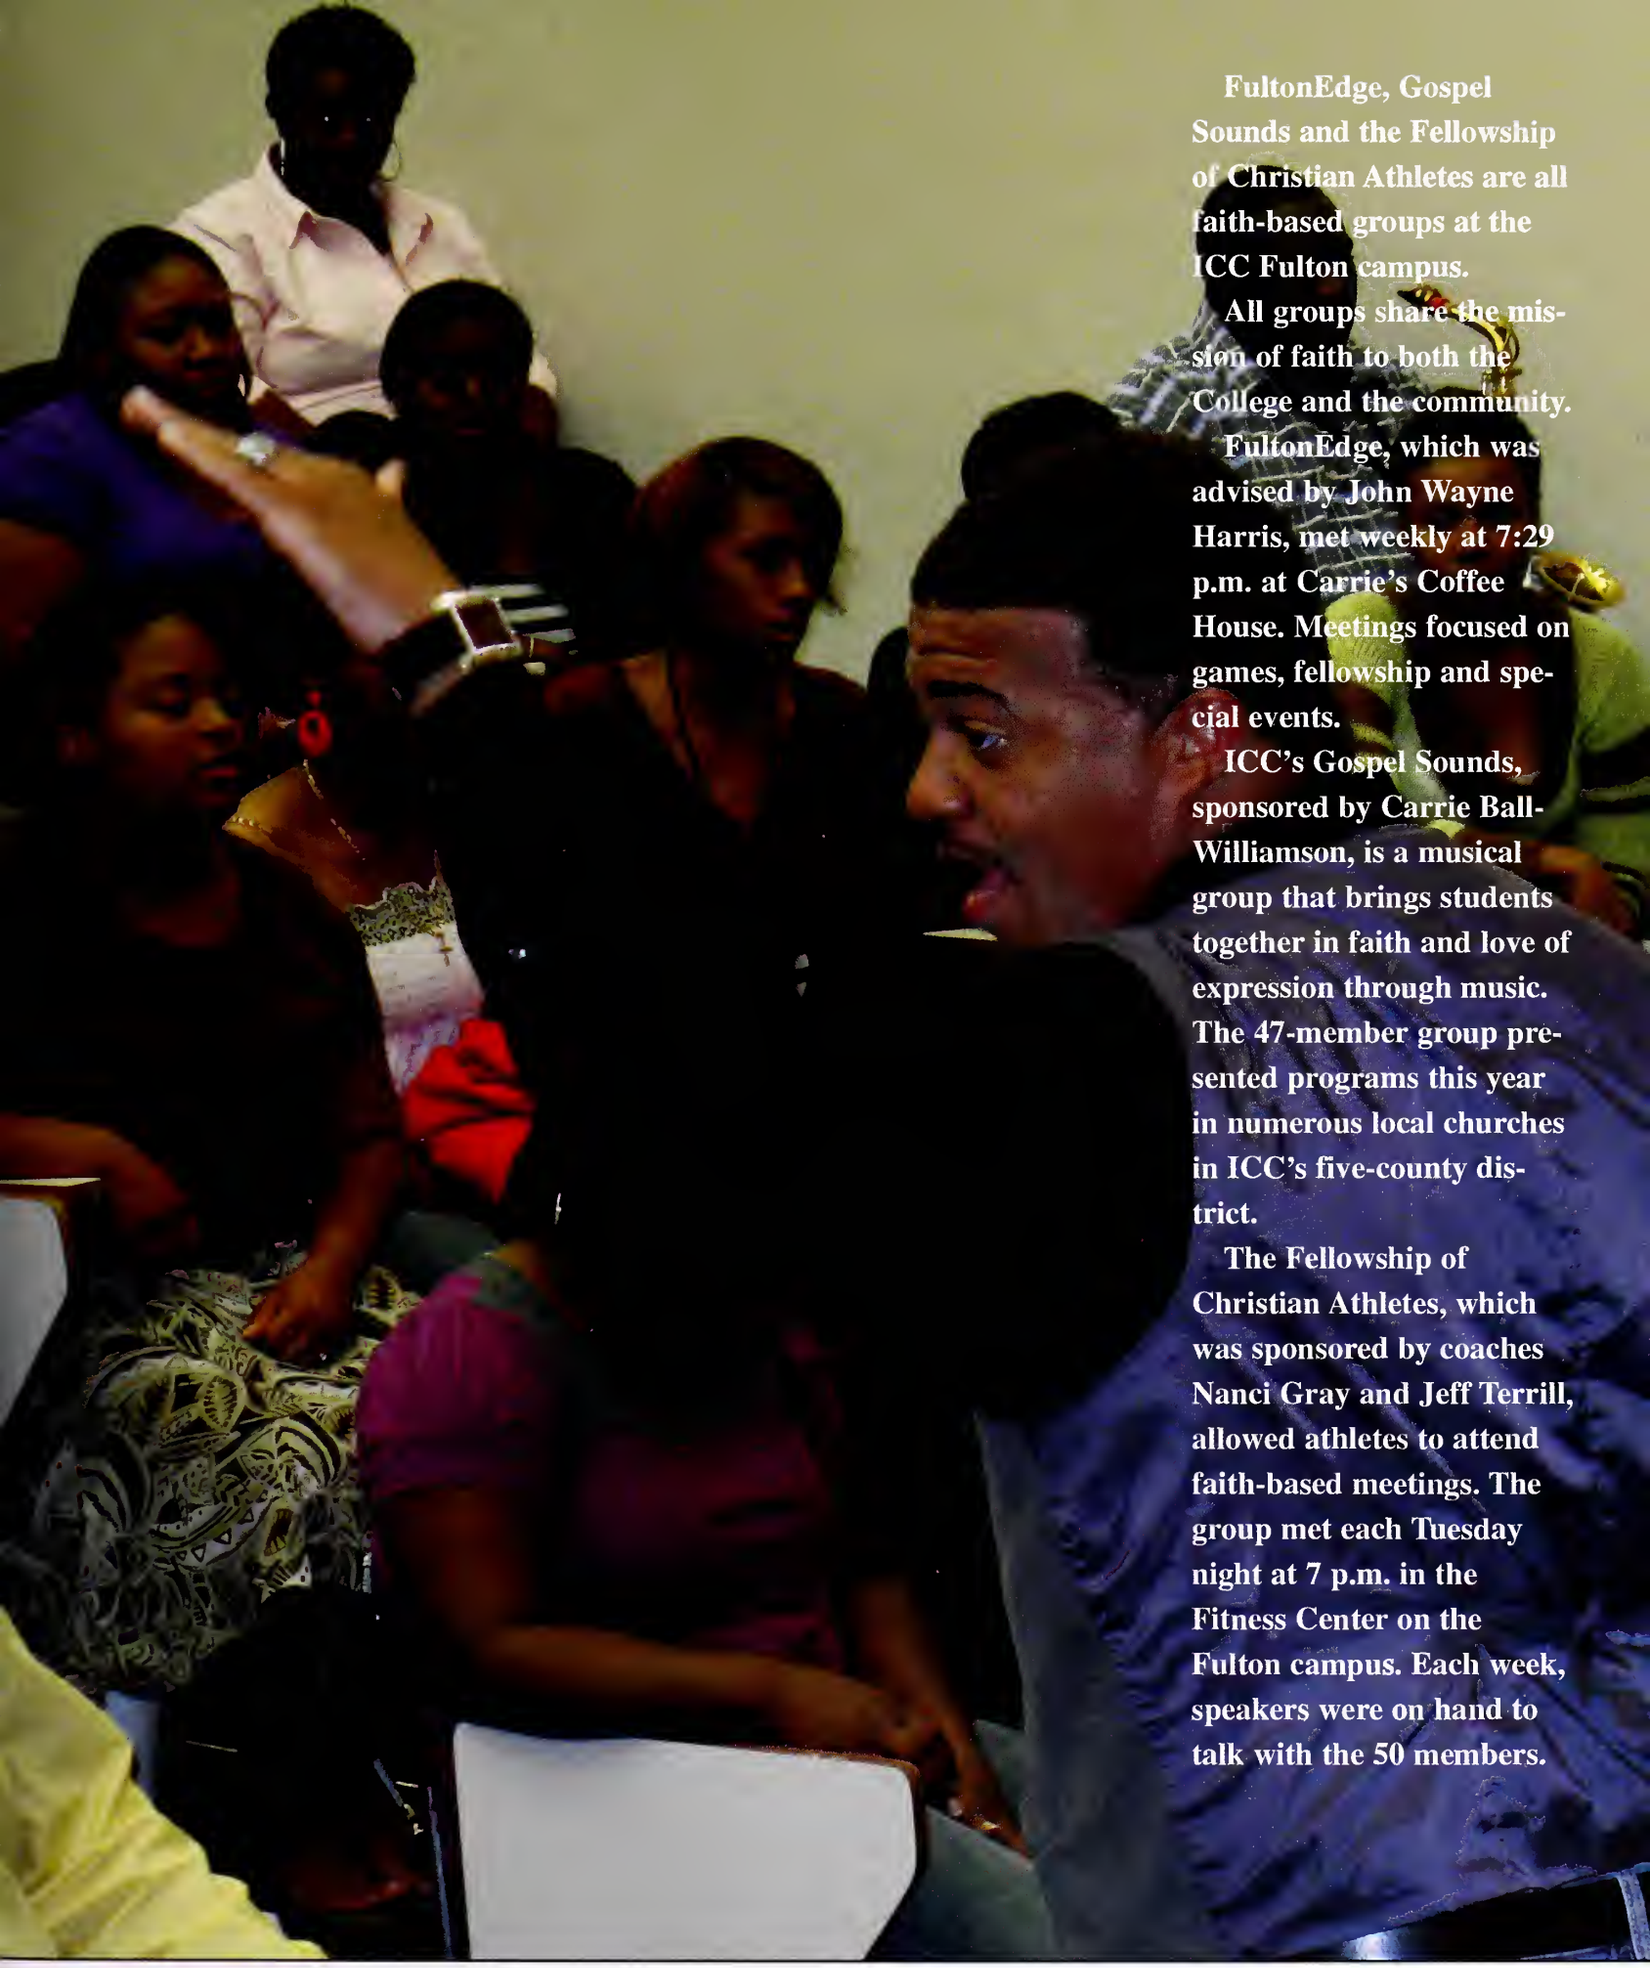
Groups of faith



FultonEdge, Gospel Sounds and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes are all faith-based groups at the ICC Fulton campus.

All groups share the mission of faith to both the College and the community.

FultonEdge, which was advised by John Wayne Harris, met weekly at 7:29 p.m. at Carrie's Coffee House. Meetings focused on games, fellowship and special events.

ICC's Gospel Sounds, sponsored by Carrie Ball-Williamson, is a musical group that brings students together in faith and love of expression through music. The 47-member group presented programs this year in numerous local churches in ICC's five-county district.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes, which was sponsored by coaches Nanci Gray and Jeff Terrill, allowed athletes to attend faith-based meetings. The group met each Tuesday night at 7 p.m. in the Fitness Center on the Fulton campus. Each week, speakers were on hand to talk with the 50 members.

The 21 members of the 2009 Mirror staff spent hours in production of this year's book.

Each staff member worked to record the memories of the 2008-09 school year.

Requirements were to sign in twice weekly, either Mondays and Wednesdays or Tuesdays and Thursdays, and completion of assigned sections of the book based primarily on their preference.

Staff members selected photos and wrote copy for their pages before the four major deadlines in October, November, December and early February.

The editors were Cate Dupree and Leah Hawkins.

Staff advisers were Donna Thomas, Connie Yielding and Kim Wiygul Williams, who also was the photographer.

Fashion Tribe, Indian D

ICC's Indian Delegation and Fashion Tribe both serve as public relations groups for ICC.

The Fashion Tribe is the modeling squad. Members represent the College at several fashion shows on and off campus. This year, the group modeled ICC fashions during a show at the ICC tailgate party, September 11, at the Grove. The 14 member squad also presented shows at the Crane Pavilion and in the cafeteria at the Fulton campus.

The Indian Delegation assisted with freshman orientation, attended and recruited at all district college fairs in the fall, visited all 20 high schools in ICC's five-county area with counselors to talk with seniors, assisted with various Homecoming activities, set up and worked help stations during the first week of classes in August to assist with class directions, participated in local Christmas parades, conducted numerous campus tours and attended a beginning of the year retreat at Mississippi State University for two days to get to know each other better.

All-American Band

presents "Seasons"

The 2008-09 All-American Band performed several times throughout the year. The marching band, which consisted of 311 members, provided the halftime show to the crowds at home football games and at the away game at Northwest Mississippi Community College in Senatobia.

This year's show was "Seasons," which depicted changes in life and different seasons. Numbers included were "September," "Summertime," "Hazy Shade of Winter" and "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" during halftime.

Band directors are Brian Gillentine, Tim Huckaby and Christy Colburn.

Drum majors for the 2008-09 band were Victoria Cousar, Eric Malone and Rachel Westmoreland.

During concert season, the band was split into groups to perform in concerts from January through April.

ICC's pep band also played during the home basketball games.

Members are required to attend [illegible] before the fall [illegible] begins in August. Tryouts [illegible] held in January for the color guard and Indianettes dance team.

Majorettes for the band this year were Tacy Merchant, Stephanie Owens, Heather Long and Claire Barrett.

311-member band delivers

During the spring, the All-American Band was divided into three separate bands for the concert season.

The bands included wind symphony (top band), symphonic (second band) and concert (full band).

The wind symphony performed a tour in April as well as at the Northeast Mississippi Honor Band Clinic, February 13 and 14 for all of the top band members and directors in North Mississippi.

Also, in April, all spring concert bands performed at the W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center auditorium in an open-to-the-public event.

ICC's band, according to director Brian Gillentine, provides the single most scholarships than any other activity at Itawamba Community College. The 311 members of the band receive scholarships which cover tuition.

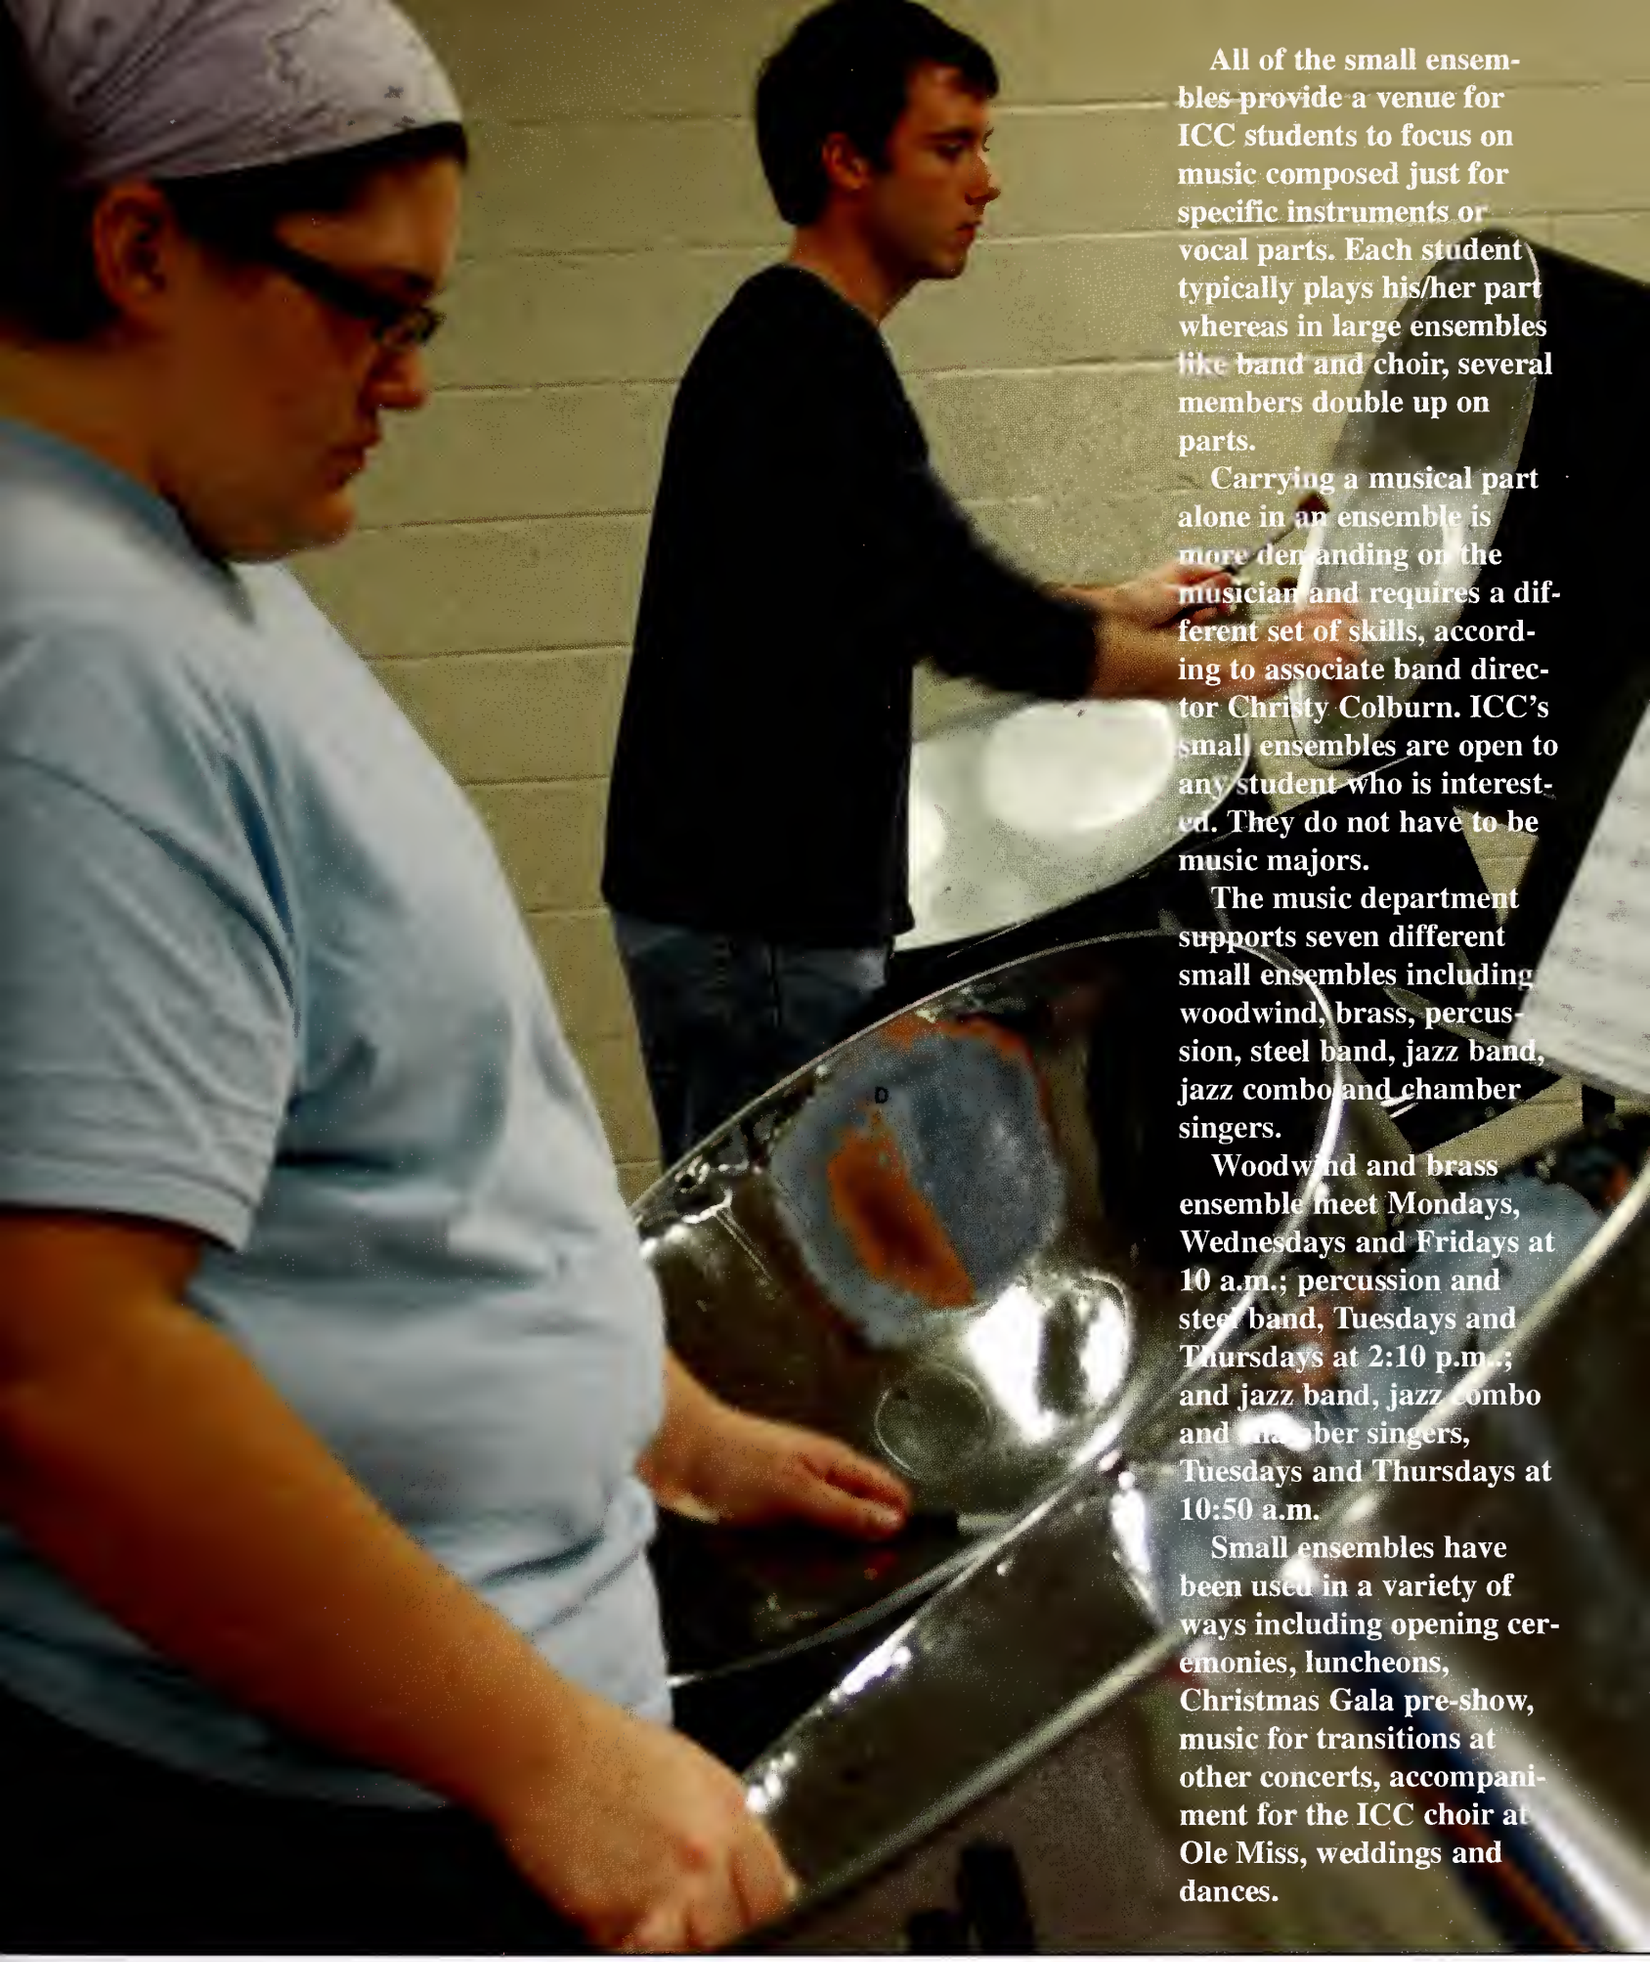
Ensemble performances



All of the small ensembles provide a venue for ICC students to focus on music composed just for specific instruments or vocal parts. Each student typically plays his/her part whereas in large ensembles like band and choir, several members double up on parts.

Carrying a musical part alone in an ensemble is more demanding on the musician and requires a different set of skills, according to associate band director Christy Colburn. ICC's small ensembles are open to any student who is interested. They do not have to be music majors.

The music department supports seven different small ensembles including woodwind, brass, percussion, steel band, jazz band, jazz combo and chamber singers.

Woodwind and brass ensemble meet Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 10 a.m.; percussion and steel band, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 2:10 p.m.; and jazz band, jazz combo and chamber singers, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 10:50 a.m.

Small ensembles have been used in a variety of ways including opening ceremonies, luncheons, Christmas Gala pre-show, music for transitions at other concerts, accompaniment for the ICC choir at Ole Miss, weddings and dances.

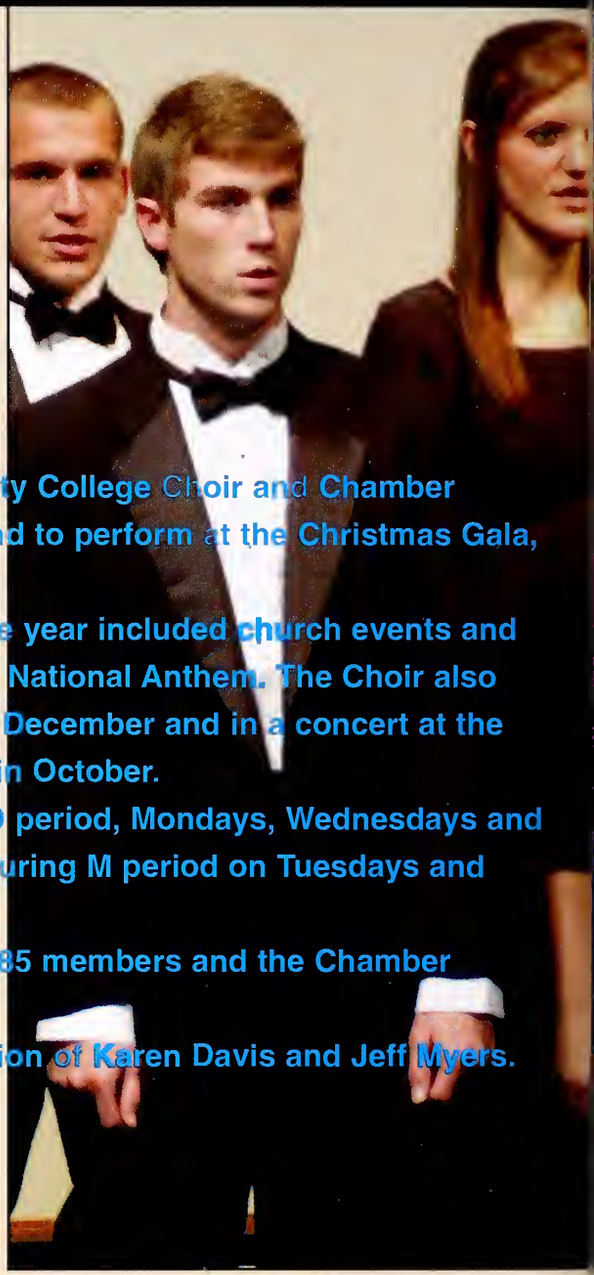
Choral groups put heart



Both the Itawamba Community College Choir and Chamber Singers teamed up with the wind band to perform at the Christmas Gala, December 3.

Additional performances during the year included church events and at Homecoming where they sang the National Anthem. The Choir also participated in the Choral Festival in December and in a concert at the W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts auditorium in October.

The choir met to rehearse during D period, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and the Chamber Singers, during M period on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The Choir included approximately 85 members and the Chamber Singers, 32.

Both groups were under the direction of Karen Davis and Jeff Myers.

The 2009 CenterStage, which consisted of 15 vocalists and 10 instrumentalists, performed "Colors" to its packed audiences.

CenterStage is a show group that focuses on choreographed vocal and dance numbers.

The 2009 show consisted of songs related to colors including "Little Red Corvette," "Green-Eyed Lady," "Play that Funky Music," "What a Wonderful World," "Colors of the Wind" and many more.

According to director Karen Davis, "CenterStage members are talented musicians and singers."

The group performed at its fall and spring shows and at home basketball games and served as greeters and recruiters for the College throughout the district.

Instrumentalists included [illegible]sh, Robert [illegible], Mark Macklin, Logan Chamblee, Brian Ledbetter, Justin Elliott, Josh Rosonet, Anna Morgan, Brandon Burnside and Cody Burnett. Vocalists were Brittany Gusmus, Rachel Upton, Brittany Kinard, Sarah Plunkett, Ashley Crockett, Ashley Kidd, Anna Katherine Phipps, Jessica Vaughn, Zachari Ruff, Adonus Mabry, CJ Cavalier, Brody White, Terrell Hall, Jamie Roberts and Chase Stanford.

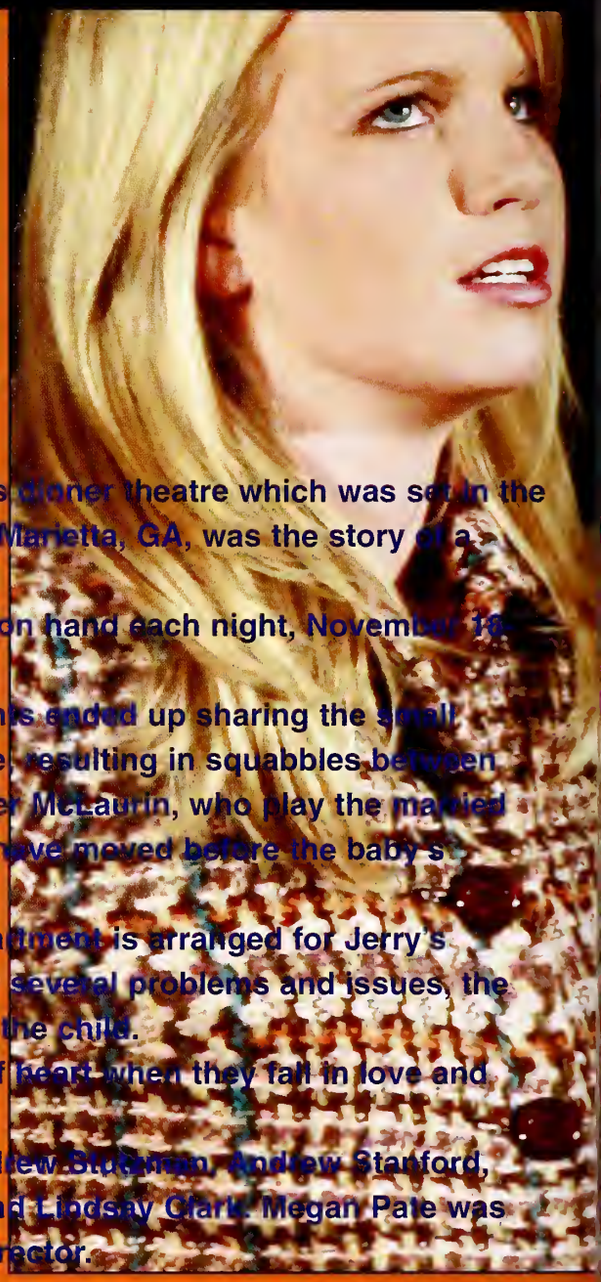
Dinner theatre plays to



"Squabbles," this year's dinner theatre which was set in the family room of a suburban home in Marietta, GA, was the story of a young couple with parent issues.

A standing-room only crowd was on hand each night, November 16-21.

One of each of the spouse's parents ended up sharing the small apartment with the expectant couple, resulting in squabbles between the in-laws. Jennifer Harper and Tyler McLaurin, who play the married couple, hope that both parents will have moved before the baby's arrival.

With the due date looming, an apartment is arranged for Jerry's father, but he refuses to move. After several problems and issues, the couple employs a nanny to care for the child.

Both parents undergo a change of heart when they fall in love and decide to live happily ever after.

Other cast members included Andrew Stutzman, Andrew Stanford, Eric Soderstrom, Emily Patterson and Lindsay Clark. Megan Pate was student director and Cy Williams, director.

through the years, many changes have been made at Itawamba Community College.

Although it has been 60 years, many freshmen still experience the new feel of beginning college. Through the decades, the faculty have changed, buildings have been replaced, programs have come and gone, but the excellence remains. Every profile tells a story of an experience that a member of the ICC family will cherish forever.

Cole's vision translates into ICC progress

After becoming the fourth President of Itawamba Community College in 1993, Dr. David C. Cole set goals for the future.

With his 16 years of visionary leadership, Itawamba Community College has become a premier community college.

Dr. Cole feels that the success is a "team effort," but without his networking and perceptive leadership, the College could not have been as successful.

Dr. Cole has spent countless hours to ensure that ICC has such state-of-the-art facilities including the Student Services Building, Boggs Humanities Building, Davis Event Center and the Fitness Center on the Fulton campus and the Advanced Education Center on the Tupelo campus.

While serving as chairman of the Presidents' Association for the Mississippi Association of Community and Junior Colleges, Dr. Cole worked vigorously to ensure better funding for all community colleges in the state including salaries and to improve the dropout rate.

In addition, Dr. Cole is a member of numerous boards and participates in community activities throughout ICC's district.

He and his wife, Betty, have four children and six grandchildren.

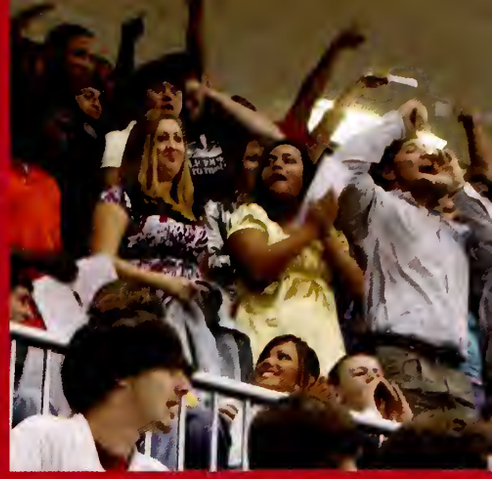
The BEST College

Enrollment at the beginning of the fall semester was a record at a 12.65 percent increase, up 760 students from last fall. College Life replaced The Best Start to provide a transition from high school to college for students with an ACT score of 17 or below. Rising gas prices necessitated shuttle service between the Fulton and Tupelo campuses. All five counties in ICC's district approved a guaranteed tuition program for the 2009 graduating class. ICC celebrated its 60th anniversary. The doors opened in 1948 to 114 students. PTA and Radiologic Technology both were reaccredited. The original school bell, which has been in storage, was given a new home near the Crane Pavilion at the Fulton campus. In 2003, ICC developed CHIEF, which this year enabled ICC to stay ahead of the accountability curve. The Writing Centers, which opened as a direct result of the SACS QEP, assist students with written communication. They are located both in Fulton and Tupelo and online. The ICC Alert has been established to enable students, faculty and staff to be notified in an emergency situation.



From top, Buster Davis shares the stage with Athletic Hall of Fame inductee Dan Lee Bishop. Nevada Barr visits campus. Students from Itawamba County celebrate the Tuition Guarantee program for 2009 high school seniors. Students pack the stairs as classes change at the Fulton campus. ICC President Dr. David C. Cole presents the Alumnus of the Year plaque to Delbert Turner Jr., a member of IJC's first graduating class. Rachel Dupree, Kim Floyd, John Herring and Chris Burleson look at an x-ray. Dean Harold Plunkett assists a student on College Connection Day, which enabled non-traditional students to sample a taste of the college experience. 2007-08 Alumni Association President Thomas Griffith discusses how much ICC has changed with Roy Ryan, a member of the first class. Jimmy Taylor, Athletic Hall of Fame inductee, visits with former teammate David Lee Carter. Athletic director Carrie Ball-Williamson looks up information on CHIEF.

In February, the final pages of the Mirror were shipped to Jostens in Clarksville, Tennessee.

The 2,000 copies were printed and shipped to the Fulton campus for distribution.

In his second year as ICC's Jostens sales representative, Chris Coleman helped to produce the 9" x 12" book, which was printed on 100# enamel stock.

Photographs were made by Kim Wiygul Williams and staff members Haley Holley, Blake McCollum and Petre Thomas. The staff expresses its appreciation to student photographer Jared Burleson, the Student Affairs office, the Student Government Association and club sponsors and students for submitting photographs.

A very special thank you goes to adviser Donna Thomas and Connie Yielding for proofreading and other assistance with making the yearbook possible.

In addition, thank you, Will Kollmeyer, for sports articles and to other faculty and staff members on both campuses who assisted with photo identification.

As editors, we also appreciate all staff members who worked diligently to complete their pages before the deadlines.

60 Years of Excellence was selectd as the theme of the 2009 yearbook because of the 60th anniversary of the College.

We hope this book is a reflection of your memories made at ICC this year.

ICC celebrates a tradition of excellence this year. We know that this legacy will continue.
